

Dr. Scott Albright
Columbus, Ohio
Covington, Commencement Speaker 2006

Education                    -Covington High School, 1994
                                  -Bowling Green University, 1996
                                  -Wright State University M.D. School of Medicine, 2003

Awards & Activities    -Development Leadership Award for Family Medicine
                                  -Family Medicine Department Award
                                  -Clinical Instructor for The Ohio State University
                                  -National Conference presentations on the topics of Recurrent Right Ankle Sprains in the High School Football Player and “Left-Sided Weakness in the Twenty-Six-Year-Old Weight Lifter” to the American Society of Sports Medicine
                                  -Enjoy Ohio State football and The Cleveland Browns